Spooky Season at Angelwood!

The Career Development and Education Center hosted a trunk or treat outing for participants on Halloween this year. Each car trunk was decorated, and people enjoyed walking around in their Halloween costumes while trick or treating for candy. It was fun to see the creative outfits and people picking out their favorite treats. Happy Halloween!

Angelwood Core Value - Dignity

Each year, Angelwood staff receive required training to help keep the individuals in our programs safe. Recently, a group of employees took the Professional Crisis Management (PCM) training. This training allows for staff to intervene when necessary while preserving the dignity of the participants and ensures staff are able to handle any crisis situation in a safe and dignified way. PCM is an evidenced based program that provides interventions that are effective and utilize the least restrictive means possible. Congratulations to our newest group of PCM trained staff!

Save the Date - Giving Tuesday

Giving Tuesday was created in 2012 as a means to encourage people to give, collaborate, and celebrate generosity. This global day of giving falls on Nov. 29th this year. We ask that you consider being part of this day of impact by supporting Angelwood! As we enter this season of gratitude, we thank all of you who donate, volunteer, and connect people and organizations to our mission.
